AU PAIRS CHANGE LIVES - STARTING WITH THEIR OWN

As an Au Pair, you get the exciting opportunity to live and travel in the U.S., experience American culture, be part of an American family and care for their children full-time—but that's not all.

It's a journey of self-discovery, growth, and connection—to share who you are, your culture and traditions, and make a difference in a family's life and let them make a difference in yours in ways that will surprise you.

You gain valuable work experience, improve your English, further your education and meet new friends from around the world. It's an opportunity to set new intentions and goals and have the resources to help you reach them with the support of the Go Au Pair Community.

MATCHING WITH

A HOST FAMILY

Interested Host Families who have viewed your profile can chat with you through the community and web conferencing. If there is a potential match, Host Families share their profile and photos with you and make you an offer, but the final decision is yours to accept who you are placed with.

Go Au Pair thoroughly screens and qualifies all Host Families including references, background checks, a home inspection and interviews with all adults in the home. Feel safe and confident you'll be placed with a Host family who is ready and excited to welcome you into their home.

The first steps to laying a foundation for success begin in your home country with 32 hours of child care training through interactive multimedia at your own pace.

In-depth classes and group activities give you the practical skills and knowledge you need for day-to-day living in the US and creating a successful relationship with your Host Family.
